GET ATTENTION

Regular Session of Board of Works
Held Tuesday Night—Rock-stroh Presides.

NEW ALLEY ORDERED OPEN

Committee Appointed to Investigate
Change in Sewer at Fourth
And Vine Streets.

Street repairs occupied the attention of the board of works which met in regular session Tuesday night with Chairman Rockstroh presiding. Most of the defects reported by the members called for minor repairs and the work was ordered done by the street commissioner. All of the members of the board were present at the meeting last night, except Andrews.

Street Commissioner Brown was instructed to open the new alley in Pfingst's addition, in the Third Ward, and to make foot crossings. This alley was ordered opened several weeks ago by the council following the passage of a resolution. The benefits and damages have been assessed and most of the benefits have been paid to the city treasurer.

George Wolfe stated that the present arrangements for draining the surface water at the corner of Fourth and Vine streets were inadequate and recommended that instead of draining the water into the sanitary sewer that it be drained into the storm sewer. The board appointed a committee, Ahlbrand, Ley and Steinwedel, to investigate the complaint and recommendation and report to the council.

The street commissioner was instructed to clean out a ditch at the corner of Jackson and Pine streets. He was also instructed to drain the brick streets at certain places where the water stood after the streets were flushed. It was believed that by cutting small grooves in the bricks the holes could be drained without interfering with the surface. The tile at the corner of Third and Broadway was ordered repaired. The street commissioner was asked to repair the crossing at Second and Poplar. When the street was improved, the stone crossing was raised and a small end of the concrete street was chipped off.

The street commissioner was also ordered to clean the ditch in the alley between Ewing and Broadway and Third and Fourth. The gutter on West Tipton street was ordered repaired.

The police were instructed to notify the W. C. Bevins Company to repair West Second street where water a main was tapped. Notice was also given to Louis Kasting to repair sidewalk with cinders to conform with resolution passed by council about a year ago.

The situation relative to the funds for sweeping the improved streets was not discussed in open meeting. The last ordinance passed by the council was not handed to Mayor Ross for his signature until last Saturday and he is given ten days from that time to sign it or file his veto.

City Engineer Rights Recommends
That Certain Changes be Considered by Council.

REPORT TO BOARD OF WORKS

Declares Cost of Paving Will be Smaller and Expense of Upkeep Lighter.

Suggesting that the streets in this city are wider than necessary and that the council consider the advisability of making certain changes, City Engineer W. H. Rights filed the following recommendation with the board of works last night:

May I call your attention at this time to a matter that I think is worthy of your careful consideration and one in which the public should be interested, viz., the advisability of changing Ordinance No. 515, which fixes the widths of sidewalks for streets of different widths. Speaking of it in the more comprehensive way of widths of roadway between curbs, we find that the ordinance now provides that an 80-ft. street should have a 50-ft. roadway, a 66-ft. street a 39-ft. roadway, a 60-ft. street, a 34-ft. roadway, a 50-ft. street, a 28-ft. roadway and a 40-ft. street to have a 26-ft. roadway. It is my opinion, based on some observation and study, and after several talks with citizens I am confirmed in it, that while you are highly favored with the many wide streets that you have, yet it would be better if the roadways in the future were not curbed and paved to the extreme widths as provided for in this ordinance.

I therefore suggest for a profitable discussion that the roadways be cut down to the following widths between curbs, with a saving in widths as shown:—An 80-ft. street to have a 42-ft. roadway with a saving of 16 per cent. over the present width. A 66-ft. street to have a 32-ft. roadway, with a saving of 18 per cent. A 60-ft. street to have a 30-ft. roadway with a saving of nearly 12 per cent. The 50-ft. and 40-ft. streets could not be cut down so much, but a saving of from 4 per cent. to 8 per cent. might be made for them. We can readily see that if the streets are over paved with a material costing $1.35 per square yard the above saving will amount to 61 cents per lineal foot of property for the 80-ft. street, 51 cents for the 66-ft. street and 26 cents for the 60-ft. street. This will be quite an aid in the cost of curb and gutter, but the saving does not stop there as the City will likewise save those percentages in keeping up gravelled ways, or flushing and cleaning paved ones.

If one will look over those streets that are now curbed, but not paved, you will see along each side of the street between the curbs grass or weed plots which plainly indicate that the extra widths are not needed for the traveled way. The widened lawns and spaces in front of the shade trees should in its extra beauty and added utility be a sufficient reason for making this change, even if no other gain was possible. Should the ob-

Centennial Celebration
Arouses County Wide Interest

The announcement of a probable celebration of the one hundredth anniversary of Jackson county, made in the Republican last evening, has aroused considerable interest, and it is more than likely that fitting exercises will be arranged for the day, December 18. Interest in the event is general throughout the county, and the celebration will, it is expected, take on a county wide aspect. Whether or not it will take the form of a historical pageant and display in this city, or whether each town and community will work up its own celebration, is a matter that has not been decided, but everyone feels that some suitable celebration should be held, and it seems probable that an observance that will be a credit to the county will be staged.

The only thing that will work against a big celebration is the fact that the

MADE AT CROTHERSVILLE

Seymour Mutual Co. Buys New Building for Office and Exchange and Will Install Metallic Cable.

The Seymour Mutual Telephone Co. is making extensive improvements on its Crothersville plant and when the work is completed the system there will be a modern and fully equipped one in every respect.

The company has purchased a two story brick building and will remodel it and fit it out as an exchange and office building. A new model switch board will be installed, and the entire town will be cabled, giving a strictly metallic cable plant. The present system is a one wire affair.

With the completion of these improvements, in addition to the recently installed direct wire from the local exchange to Crothersville, the service from Seymour to Crothersville will be improved about 100 per cent., according to J. W. Houston, manager of the company. Other improvements that have been made throughout the county include a new metallic circuit between Brownstown and Tampico, by means of which the service between those points, as well as service between Seymour and Tampico, has been greatly improved. Mr. Houston yesterday installed an addition to the switchboard at the Redington exchange.

The horses took fright when the machine hit them and ran away. They were caught a short distance from the store. One horse was slightly bruised. Mr. Cox says that the wagon was also slightly damaged.

MAYOR BELL IS
ACQUITTED BY JURY

Deliberation in Marion County Case
Begins After Instructions Are Read.

TRIAL CONSUMES FIVE WEEKS

Judge Eichhorn Announces He Will Receive Verdict at Any Hour.

Bulletin.
By United Press.

Indianapolis, October 13.—Mayor Joseph E. Bell, was acquitted this afternoon of the charge of conspiring with many others to corrupt the 1914 primary, registration and election in Marion county. Word came from the jury room at 1:45 o'clock that an agreement had been reached. The verdict was announced at 2 p. m. The jury had deliberated since 10:45 a. m.

The jury took four ballots. The first three stood nine for acquittal and three for conviction. On the fourth ballot the jury was unanimous for acquittal but by error one name was left off the form. The court sent the jury back and the error was quickly rectified.

Many in the big court room crowd gathered around Bell, cheering him and shaking his hand. His attorneys got their share of the ovation.

The jury elected Stanley M. Timberlake foreman.

Bell walked up to Deputy Prosecutor Roach and shook hands with him. "You have conducted yourself like a gentleman during this trial, but that is more than I can say for some others with you," he said. Bell said that the verdict was "what all decent citizens expected."

By United Press

Indianapolis, October 13.—The jury trying Mayor Joseph E. Bell on election corruption conspiracy charges retired today at 10:25 a. m. after Judge William Eichhorn had completed reading his instructions. The case has consumed five weeks. Judge Eichhorn said he would be ready to receive the verdict at any hour of the day or night and newspaper men were in court ready to camp throughout the night.

Judge Eichhorn first informed the jury that it has the sole right to determine what facts have been established and what the law is in this case. He added that this did not give the jury the right to disregard the law and that its duty was to give careful consideration to the court's instructions.

The court detailed the various penalties for the various counts. He explained that for conviction of a felony the penalty in a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $500 and imprisonment in the state prison for not less than two years nor more than fourteen years. Other possible penalties under the counts of the indictments were outlined.

The state has throughout the trial charged that Mayor Bell had a subversive police department who aided in the intimidation of voters. The penalty on that count as given by the court, is a fine of not more than $1,000 nor less than $20 and Phillies Park, Philadelphia, October 13.—George Hooper, the 1915 edition of home run Baker, gave Boston another baseball championship this afternoon with two home runs into the center field bleachers. The Californian came to the bat in the ninth inning with the score tied, four and four, and sent the 1915 series into history with a terrific clout which cleared the center field fence on the bounce by three feet.

It was the fourth straight victory for Boston and the third victory which had been won in the ninth inning by one run. The crowd swarmed down on the field as Bill Killifer, pinch hitting for Rixey, made the last out and fought to get near the Boston bench where Hooper was being mobbed by his joyful teammates.

Phillies Park, Philadelphia, October 13.—The Phillies made a last trench defense against the near champion Red Sox this afternoon before a crowd that just comfortably filled the Philadelphia band box park. There was no rushing for seats today, though the weather was fine. An hour before the game there were still several hundred seats unoccupied in the rush bleachers. They were filled at 10 o'clock for the first two games.

Mayer pitched for Philadelphia and was caught by Burns. Boston's battery was: Foster and Thomas.

DEPARTMENT TELLS HOW TO WARD OFF HOG CHOLERA

Recommended That Animals be Treated With Anti-Cholera Serum—Light Diet.

In view of the epidemic of hog cholera in this county the following bulletin issued by the agricultural department at Washington will be of interest:

In its campaign against hog cholera, which annually destroys live stock to the value of many millions of dollars, the Department of Agriculture has issued suggestions to hog owners to aid them avoiding infection. Hog cholera is most prevalent in late summer and fall. These suggestions deserve particular attention now. They are:

To keep hog cholera out of the herd:

1. Locate your hog lots and pastures away from streams and public highways, and do not allow the hogs to run free range.

2. Do not visit your neighbor or allow him to visit you, if either of you have hog cholera on your premises.

3. Do not drive into hog lots when returning from market or after driving on public highways.

4. Do not use hog lots for yarding wagons and farm implements.

5. Do not place newly purchased stock, stock secured or loaned for breeding purposes, or stock exhibited at county fairs, with your herd. Keep such stock quarantined at least two weeks, and use care to prevent carrying infection from these to other pens in feeding and attending stock.

6. Burn to ashes or cover with quicklime and bury under four feet of earth all dead animals and the viscera removed from animals at butchering time. They attract the attention of buzzards, dogs, etc., which are liable to carry hog cholera infection.

7. Confine your dogs and do not keep pigeons unless you confine them.

If hog cholera appears in your herd:

Treat your hogs immediately with antihog-cholera serum, after which they should be kept on a light diet and pure drinking water and confined to limited quarters that may be cleaned daily and sprayed three times a week with 1 pound of compound cresol solution to 30 parts of water until the disease has abated in the herd. To obtain the best results the serum must be administered before the disease has progressed in the herd.

To rid the premises of infection: Remove all manure and saturate with quicklime.

Burn all litter, rubbish, and old hog troughs.

After the premises are thoroughly cleaned, spray walls, floors, and other surfaces with disinfectant (1 part compound cresol solution to 30 parts water.) Where hog houses are small, turn them over, exposing interior to sunlight.

Wallow holes and cesspools should be filled in, drained, or fenced off.

All runs underneath buildings should be cleaned and disinfected and then boarded up.

Destroy hogs that do not fully recover, as they may be carriers of cholera infection.

BELIEVES STREETS HERE ARE TOO WIDE

(Continued from first page) jection be raised that with the narrowed way there will not be sufficient room to turn the corners, we would answer that the present 6-ft. radius of the curves at the corners should be changed to 12-ft. and a longer and more slightly turn be made that will give almost the same room as at present, in fact be easier to negotiate.

If this matter is of sufficient moment to interest the Council, I would suggest that the matter be taken up and settled this winter after a full discussion has been had by the citizens generally. There are of course some features to the plan that will have to be worked out with respect to curbs now in at infrequent places and other matters of that nature. There may be some streets or parts of streets that could possibly have a parkway down the center. It is not always best to have all of the streets curbed or paved to one general plan and a variety in street widths and plans is often highly desirable.

It may be of interest to remember that Fifth Ave., N. Y. is 100-ft. wide with a roadway of but 40-ft. and that Broadway is 80-ft. wide with a roadway of 44-ft., or only 2-ft. more than we advise for the same width street here. In the current issue of "The American City" we find several illustrations of city streets that have the above idea. Westchester Ave., Cleveland, is shown as a street 50-ft. wide with a brick roadway of 24-ft., and it is stated to be one of several similar streets in a block 2-miles square. At Columbus, Ind., North Washington street is 80-ft. wide with a roadway 44-ft. wide and having a bricked double street-car track, with sufficient room on the asphalted sides for travel. All of their 60-ft. streets have but 30-ft. between the curbs and at least 80 per cent. of all of the streets have been curbed, which has proved to be a large factor in the success and ease in maintaining their graveled streets.

ADVOCATES SIX YEAR TERM

Former President Taft Would Give President Longer Term.

New York, Oct. 13.—A six-year presidential term, the adoption of a real budget making reform, and the extension of the president's power to veto were ardently favored by Ex-President William H. Taft in a lecture on "The Presidency, Its Powers, Responsibilities and Restrictions," at Columbia university.

Mr. Taft urged a presidential term of six or seven years and stated as his reason for his belief in a long single term the increase in administrative efficiency that would result thereby. He singled out the new constitution of New York state as the finest piece of work in constitutional law yet devised, because it gives the governor full power to initiate the state budget and takes away power from the legislature to make appropriations of all kinds. As to the veto of the president, he declared there should be an extension of the power so that the president, at his pleasure, could veto in part and sign in part, bills which were not wholly good or wholly bad.

The program will be arranged by A. D. Moffett of the Elwood Record; Henry Marshall of the Lafayette Journal, and Miss Blanche Foster of the Indianapolis News. A committee to arrange by-laws was also appointed.

The committee was entertained at luncheon by the president of the association, Charles G. Sefrit of the Washington Herald. There were about fifteen present.

CANAL OPENING UNCERTAIN

Governor Goethals States Date Can Not Now Be Set.

Washington, Oct. 13.—The war department received from Major-General Goethals, governor of the Panama canal, a cablegram announcing that, in view of the continued movements of the slides in Gaillard cut, it would be impossible to predict any particular date for the reopening of the canal. Governor Goethals advised the discontinuance of sailings via the Panama route until further notice, which, he says, will be given as soon as material is removed sufficient to insure stable conditions.

Officials here are disturbed at the closing of the canal. Engineers assert that the excavation of Gaillard cut has disturbed the equilibrium of the masses of earth at that point and that there is nothing to be done but await the restoration of that equilibrium by the removal of more earth.

GERMANS PLACE BLAME ON ALLIES

Declare Entrance Into Greece With Troops is Violation of Neutrality.

STATEMENT OF VON JAGOW'S

Berlin Military Officers Say Entrance Into Belgium Was for Different Purpose.

(By Carl W. Ackerman, United Press Staff Correspondent.) (Copyrighted United Press in U. S. 1915. Copyright in Great Britain.)

Berlin, October 13—"The world's storm of indignation against Germany for invading Belgium is 'cant' or 'schwindel' " declared Foreign Minister von Jagow today in an interview given the United Press regarding the action of the allies in landing troops at Salonika in Greece. I asked if the final decision in the Balkans would be another occasion for peace talk.

He replied: "You must ask Germany's enemies."

Foreign minister Von Jagow's statement regarding the landing of allied troops in Greece was:

"English newspapers are taking the greatest pains to demonstrate that there is not the least allegory between Germany's entrance of Belgium and the landing of allies troops at Salonika under General Hamilton. "They emphasized the point that the Greeks government and parliament forewent the right to protest against the entente's procedure with armed forces; that the allies never had in view any action upon Greek territory that would be unwelcome to Greece.

"This latest assertion is inaccurate for the Greek government protested vigorously against the landing. If the Greeks refrain from armed force that does not mitigate England's and France's blame. Certainly the violation of Belgium neutrality by Germany and that of Greece by England and France cannot be compared for in the first instance the question resolved itself in the threatening French advance through Belgium against the existence of the German empire.

"The landing of entente troops at Salonika was not founded on any such distressing emergency. It was based entirely upon the ground of political and military opportunity."

MISSIONARY MEETING
HOLD LAST SESSION

District Convention Closes This Afternoon With an Address by Miss Voiglander.

The closing session of the district meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society of the Seymour M. E. district, was held this afternoon. Miss Gertrude Voiglander, returned missionary from India, gave an address. Miss E. Naomi Ruth, who was to have given an address Tuesday afternoon, was unable to attend the meeting on account of illness.

Miss Voiglander spoke of the urgent need of missionary work in India where she was engaged in the work for the Methodist Church for several years. She pointed out the benefits that come from teaching the Bible to the heathens and urged the members to use their influence and give their money and prayers that greater work might be done in that country. Mrs. C. E. Asbury, of Indianapolis, spoke this morning on the plans for the year.

The convention was well attended and practically every society in the district was represented by one or more delegates. The election of officers was to take place this afternoon.

WHY YOU SHOULD WEAR DR. REED'S Cushion Shoes

Comfort Your feet rest upon a flexible cushion which conforms to and fills every curve of your feet, and distributes the weight of your body evenly the full length and width of the bottoms of your feet, relieving the extreme pressure on your heel, ankle and toe joints, and prevents any jar from walking.

Fit Dr. Reed shoes are scientifically constructed, the foot conforming cushion holds your feet as in a mold, relieving callouses, corns, bunions and the hot burning sensation of your feet caused by the ordinary hard-soled shoes.

Health The soft fibre insole holds your feet in place and distributes the weight of your body evenly from heel to toe, and permits a free circulation of your blood through the bottoms of your feet, relieves excessive perspiration and restores them to a natural, healthy condition. The fibre insole is an absolute non-conductor of heat and cold and does not allow the dampness to penetrate through the soles, preventing rheumatism, pneumonia and other diseases caused by your feet not being sufficiently protected.

Every man who wears them is a walking advertisement. We carry three lasts, all widths and sizes, at $5.00 the pair. We are the sole agents in Jackson County.

PONT-A-MOUSSON IS A CITY WITHOUT A BABY

Repeated Bombardments Made it Necessary to Remove Infants
From Houses.

(By William Phillip Simms, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Eastern France, Sept. 15 (By Mail)—A city without a single child is Pont-a-Mousson. Ordinarily 13,000 souls abide within her borders. Repeated bombardments—the 135th has just been recorded, have made it necessary to remove the babies.

One of the strangest cities in France, Pont-a-Mousson sits astride the Moselle, in the shadow of an odd, solitary mountain peak which juts from the rolling country of Lorraine. The peak is called Mousson and in the village at its base sprang up by the Moselle and a bridge (pont) was thrown across the stream to connect the settlement with Mousson, upon whose crest a castle reared its towers the place was nameless save for reference to it as the "pont a Mousson" (the bridge to Mousson.) So it is called to this day.

Pont-a-Mousson holds the record for bombardments since this war began. The German lines run east and west past its northern limits crossing the Moselle and curving around the base of Mousson from the top of which, through telescopes, Metz, which Bazaine traitorously gave to Germany in 1870, can be seen.

The bridge is barricaded on the north because the Germans otherwise could see every person who crossed. Several people were picked off by snipers before the seven foot barricade of sandbags was constructed. From behind this barricade a clear view of the German positions is had.

Heroism is as common as the red-tiled roof and all the roofs are red. The mayor, a white-haired old man, volunteered, hoping to march triumphantly into the Lorraine which Germany took from France 44 years ago. But when his city became the greater danger-spot he hurried back and has been on the job ever since.

Daily he goes among what is left of his fellow citizens seeing to their needs. He does not encourage them. They need no encouragement. Men and women go about their affairs quite as if the country enjoyed the fairest of peace and the bombardments—there is an average of one every three days—cause no more alarm than a passing shower. It is true the bombardments are more fatal but when a citizen is carried off by the steel visitations no more terror is manifested than had he died a natural death.

Old women, ruddy and hale sit in their doorways, embroidering. One I saw was completing a layette for a rich baby expected at Havre. At any minute the shelling might begin but the old lady in her white lace bonnet manipulated her fine cambric needle with nerveless precision rapidly converting the blue design into the daintiest of forget-me-nots.

The military commandment of the place, a highly educated reserve officer, with his lieutenant, a young university man, read aloud to each other when they have the time, from Virgil, in Latin.

The local Justice of the Peace has nothing to do because in Pont-a-Mousson no one does wrong any more and rows are a thing of the past. He divides his time between helping distribute food and writing the history of Pont-a-Mousson. The Commissary of police helps the fire department.

That is the only way they can earn their hire, so peaceful has become this crimeless, babyless city on the firing line.

The churches, Saint Laurent and Saint Martin, both specimens of a modified Gothic, have been left intact. The hospital formerly at the edge of town on the Mousson side is a wreck. The cemetery is badly holed and many monuments have been reduced to dust.

Most of the older inhabitants remain in their homes, or what is left of their homes, but the children have gone. One day a line of Paris automobiles came and got them and carried them off to Nancy a mile around about. When I was in the place in the spring the children were still playing in the streets, among the shattered tiles which looked like blood splashes on the pavement, but they have been carried to safety now and the most-bombarded city of France is childless.

5 Women Avoid Operations

For years we have been stating in the newspapers of the country that a great many women have escaped serious operations by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it is true.

We are permitted to publish in this announcement extracts from the letters of five women. All have been recently received unsolicited. Could any evidence be more convincing?

1. HODGDON, ME.—"I had pains in both sides and such a soreness I could scarcely straighten up at times. My back ached and I was so nervous I could not sleep, and I thought I never would be any better until I submitted to an operation, but I commenced taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and soon felt like a new woman."—Mrs. HAYWARD SOWERS, Hodgdon, Me.
2. SHELBYVILLE, KY.—"I suffered from a severe female trouble. My right side hurt me badly—it was finally decided that I must be operated upon. When my husband learned this he got a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for me, and after taking it a few days I got better and continued to improve until I am now well."—Mrs. MOLLE SMITH, R.F.D., Shelbyville, Ky.
3. HANOVER, PA.—"The doctor advised a severe operation, but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it."—Mrs. ADA WILT, 303 Walnut St., Hanover, Pa.
4. DECATUR, ILL.—"I was sick in bed and three of the best physicians said I would have to be taken to the hospital for an operation as I had something growing in my left side. I refused to submit to the operation and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—and it worked a miracle in my case, and I tell other women what it has done for me."—Mrs. LAURA A. GRISWOLD, 2437 East William Street, Decatur, Ill.
5. CLEVELAND, OHIO.—"I was very irregular and for several years my side pained me so that I expected to have to undergo an operation. Doctors said they knew of nothing that would help me. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I became regular and free from pain. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 1568 Constant St., Cleveland, O.

WAR HAS MADE NEW YORK A CENTER FOR CROOKS

Since First of Year Women in Gotham Have Lost Half a Million in Gems and Jewels.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

New York, Oct. 13.—The war has made New York the biggest "international crook center" in the world, authorities declare. Every city in the country likewise has its increased quota of crooks of all kinds, driven from Europe.

It seems to be the women who are suffering most from the straight burglaries. To date this year the toll of the Snout-And-Jowl and Crafty-Debonair brigades in Gotham alone total nearly half-a-million dollars in gems and cash. Practically all the big robberies have been from wealthy women's homes.

While Mrs. Elizabeth Nichols sat in the drawing room of her Brooklyn residence, a thief entered, frightened Mrs. Nichols so she died, then walked out with $16,500 worth of jewelry.

Inspector Joseph A. Faurot, Chief of the New York Detective Bureau, has issued a lengthy warning to the women of the country on how to protect their homes from burglars, hundreds of whom have come from Europe with their more subtle brothers and sisters who travel first cabin. Above is a brief of Faurot's advice.

There are three months left for the crooks to make a 1915 international record here and they promise to do it.

Driven from their lucrative and accustomed haunts at Monte Carlo, London, Paris, Berlin and like famed continental resorts, the crooks have swooped down and settled upon New York as the locust plague once swept the Kansas prairies.

They're a clever crew, for the most part, barring the international strong-arm man and second-story worker, who is just a prosperous low-brow. It's the educated, crafty, shrewd men and women crooks—white-collar scoundrels, who are driving the New York detectives plumb distracted.

Since January, fifteen "big jobs," of $3,000 or over, have been successfully put over by what is believed to be an organized band of clever criminals sided, maybe, by servants in wealthy households.

Proceeds from the fifteen hauls total nearly $350,000, and there have been hundreds of robberies ranging from $100 to $2,500.

Some of the heaviest losers are Mrs. Sherwood Aldrich, whose summer house at Southampton, L. I., was robbed of $7,000 in gems; Mrs. James McMillan, whose summer place at Manchester-by-the-Sea was robbed of jewels valued $75,000; Mrs. E. Clifton Potter, from whose summer place at East Hampton, L. I., thieves obtained $5,000 in gems; Mrs. Barbara Wright, Brooklyn, $25,000.

Rewards totaling almost $50,000 are still in force on some of the larger robberies.

OLD MAGAZINES NEEDED

We find the files of periodicals at the Public Library are insufficient to meet the demand constantly made upon them. In a small library magazines are used in the place of books, for they contain valuable articles upon subjects which are not found in its books. For example, take such subjects as the "Japanese problem in California," "Western art and artists," and "Juvenile protection," which are found on this winter's program of one of the women's clubs of Seymour. As every one knows, there is plenty of information upon these topics in the periodicals, but as yet, the Library cannot furnish books upon these subjects.

Magazines are also valuable in our work with the school children. They are sent every day to the Library to look up in books and magazines interesting information in addition to what is found in their text-books.

Another reason for giving your magazines to the Library is that there they will have a much wider use, being accessible to the thousands of families in the township, instead of just one.

The Librarian is visiting every school in the city this week. She has talked the matter over with the children and they are eagerly gathering for the Library all the discarded magazines they can find. They bring them to their school rooms, and next week the magazines will be gathered from all the school buildings in the city and brought to the Library.

Now mothers, we want your cooperation. It is house-cleaning time, and we know every housekeeper has found in her overhauling and overturning scores of magazines which she will be rejoiced to get rid of, and to put where they will be of further use. Let the children have them.

DON'T SUFFER WITH WINTER ECZEMA

This irritating and exasperating malady can be relieved with
S. S. S.

Winter Eczema, sometimes called TETTER, is one of the many varieties of the irritating and tormenting disease known as Eczema. A deep-seated blood disease that is so often confused as a Skin Disease. Don't think that you can rid yourself of it by washing with medicated soaps or medicated lotions. You will save both your time and money by leaving them alone. Winter Eczema is seemingly dead during the hot months, but with the advent of cold weather it comes to life with renewed vigor. The head, feet and hands are the parts most often attacked, though it sometimes appears on other parts of the body, the skin hardens, cracks open and bleeds, while the itching and burning is at times almost unbearable. Scratching only makes it worse, sores and scabs forming where the skin is broken.

In this form of Eczema brownish white crusts sometimes form which scale off in fine particles, leaving the skin raw and inflamed. It is especially painful and severe when confined to the hands, which often become so badly affected that the sufferer is unable to perform the lightest work. This, like all other types of Eczema, is due to the acid poisons in the blood and not to local causes. The trouble is more than skin deep, and washes, soaps, powders and salves nor anything else applied to the surface cannot possibly do more than soothe the burning and itching or relieve temporarily the inflammation and pain.

It is the acids thrown off by the blood and which are forcing their way through the pores that cause the skin to harden, crack and bleed, and produce the irritation and soreness. S. S. S. neutralizes these acid poisons and cleanses the blood of all irritating substances and humors, and does it promptly and effectually. Beware of imitations—refuse substitutes.

S. S. S. purifies and invigorates the thin acid blood, and builds up the entire system; then the unsightly eruptions heal; the skin becomes smooth and soft, and all signs of the Eczema disappear. Get S. S. S. from your druggist, and write for our special book on skin diseases—free. Write the Swift Specific Company, Medical Department, Room 17, Atlanta, Ga.

The BALL of FIRE

By GEORGE RANDOLPH CHESTER

CHAPTER XXX.

Hand in Hand.

Rev. Smith Boyd walked slowly out into the dim church, with the little volume in his hand. The afternoon sun had sunk so low that the illumination from the stained-glass windows was cut off by the near buildings, and the patches of ruby and of sapphire, of emerald and of topaz, glowed now near the tops of the slender columns, or mellowed the dusky spaces up amid the arches.

It was hushed and silent there, deserted, and far from the thoughts of men. The young rector walked slowly up the aisle to a pew in the corner near the main entrance, and sat down, still with the little Book of Common Prayer in his hand, and, in the book, the Articles of Religion. From them alone must he preach; nothing more and nothing less. That was the duty for which he was hired. His own mind, his own intelligence, the reason and the spirit and the soul which God had given him were for no other use than the clever support of the things which were printed here. And who had formulated these articles? Men; men like himself.

Rev. Smith Boyd had no need to read these Articles of Religion. He had been over them countless times, and he knew them by heart, from beginning to end. He had opened wide the credulity of his mind, and had forced his belief into these channels, so that he might preach the gospel, not of Christ, but of his church, with a clean conscience. And he had done so. Whatever doubts there had lurked in him, from that one period of infidelity in his youth, he had shut off behind a solid wall over which he would not peer. There were many things behind that wall which he would better for him not to see, he had told himself, lest, from among them, some false doctrine may creep up and poison the purity of his faith. He had thrown himself solidly on faith. Belief implicit and unflinching was necessary to the support of the dogmatic theology he taught, and he gave it that belief; implicit and unflinching. Reason had no part in religion or in theology; and for good cause!

But here had come a condition where reason, like a long-suppressed passion of the body, clamored insistently to be heard, and would have its voice, and strode in, and took loud possession. Joseph G. Clark, so filled with iniquity that he could not see his own sins, so rotted, to the depths of his soul, that he could twist every violation of moral law into a virtue, so sunken in the foulness of every possible onslaught upon mercy and justice and humanity that millions suffered from his deeds, this man could sit in the vestry of Market Square church, and control the destinies of an organization built ostensibly for the purpose of saving souls and spreading the gospel of mercy and justice and humanity, could sit in the seat of the holy, because, with his lips he could say: "I acknowledge Christ as my Redeemer!" Rufus Manning, whose life was an open page, whose record was one upon which there was no blot, who had lived purely and humanely and mercifully and compassionately, who had given freely of his time and of his goods for the benefit of those who were weak and helpless and needy, who had read deeply into human hearts, and had comforted them because he was gifted with a portion of that divine compassion which sent an only begotten Son to die upon the cross, that through his blood the sins of man might be washed away, this man could be driven from the vestry of Market Square church, itself guilty and stained with sin, because he could not, or would not, say with his lips, "I acknowledge Christ as my Redeemer!"

Reason made a terrific onslaught against faith at this juncture. Familiar as he was with the book, Rev. Smith Boyd turned to the Articles of Religion.

"We are accounted righteous before God, only for the merit of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ by Faith, and not for our own works or deserving."

"Works done before the grace of Christ, and the inspiration of His Spirit, are not pleasant to God, for as much as they spring not of faith in Jesus Christ; neither do they make men meet to receive grace, or deserve grace of congruity: yea, rather, for that they are not done as God hath willed and commanded them to be done, we doubt not but they have the nature of sin."

There was some discrepancy here between the works and the faith of Clark and the works and the faith of Manning. Rev. Smith Boyd made no doubt that the Great Judge would find little difficulty in distinguishing between these two men, and in deciding upon their respective merits; but that was not the point which disturbed the young rector. It was the attitude of the church towards these men, and the fact that he must uphold that attitude. It was absurd! Rev. Smith Boyd was a devout and earnest and consistent believer, not merely in the existence of God, but in his greatness and his power and his glory, his justice and his mercy and his wisdom; but Rev. Smith Boyd suddenly made the starting discovery that he was not preaching God! He was preaching the church and its creed!

Started, now, he went through the thirty-nine Articles of Religion, one by one, slowly, thoughtfully, and with a quickened conscience. Reason knocked at the door of Faith, and entered; but it did not drive out Faith. They sat side by side, but each gave something to the other. No, rather, Reason stripped the mask from Faith, tore away the disguising cloak, and displayed her in all her simple beauty, sweet and gentle and helpful. What was the faith he had been called upon to teach? Faith in the thirty-nine Articles of Religion! This had been cleverly substituted for the organizers of an easy profession, for faith in God, which latter was too simple of comprehension for the purposes of any organization.

For a long time Rev. Smith Boyd sat in the corner pew, and when he had closed the book, all that had been behind the wall of his mind came out and was sorted into heaps, and the bad discarded and the good retained. He found a wonderful relief in that. He had lived with a secret chamber in his heart, hidden even from himself, and now that he had opened the door, he felt free. Above him, around him, within him, was the presence of God, infinite, tender, easy of understanding; and from that God, his God, the one which should walk with him through life his friend and comforter and counselor, he stripped every shred of pretense and worthless form and useless ceremony!

"I believe in God the Creator; the Maker of my conscience; my Friend and Father." The creed of Gail!

For a moment the rector stood, tall and erect, then he stretched forth his arms:

"I know that my Redeemer liveth!" he said, and sank to his knees.

Two high points he had kept in his faith, points never to be shaken; the existence of his creator, his mercy and his love, and the divinity of his son, who died, was crucified and buried, and on the third day arose to ascend unto heaven. Reason could not destroy that citadel in a man born to the necessity of faith! Man must believe some one thing. If it was as easy, as he had once set forth, to believe in the biblical account of the creation of the world as to believe in a pre-existent chaos, out of which evolved the spirit of life, and all its marvels of growing trees and flying birds and reasoning men, it was as easy to go one step further, and add the son to the father and to the holy ghost! Even chaos must have been created!

Fully satisfied, Rev. Smith Boyd walked into the vestry, and wrote his resignation from the rectorship of Market Square church, for he could no longer teach, and preach, faith—in the thirty-nine articles of religion! With his grasp he had held a position of wealth, of power, of fame! He scarcely considered their loss; and in the ease with which he relinquished them, he knew that he was self-absorbed from the charge of using his conscience as a ladder of ambition! If personal vanity had entered into his desire to build the new cathedral, it had been incidental, not fundamental. It made him profoundly happy to know this with positiveness.

He called up the house of Jim Sargent, and asked for Gail.

"Come over," he invited her. "I want to see you very much. I'm in the church. Come in through the vestry."

"All right," was the cheerful reply. "I'll be there in a minute."

He had been very shy! He was tremendously pleased with himself! He had kept out of his voice all the longing, and all the exultation, and all the love! He would not trust even one vibration of his secret to a cold telephone wire!

He set the door of the vestry open wide. Within the church, the organist had conquered that baffling run in the mighty prelude of Bach, and the great dim spaces up amid the arches were pulsing in ecstasy with the tremendous harmony. Outside, upon the background of the celestial strain, there rose a fluttering, a twittering, a cooing. The doves of spring had returned to the vestry yard.

Just a moment and Gail appeared, poised in the doorway, with a filmy pink scarf about her shoulders, a simple frock of delicate gray upon her slender figure, her brown hair waving about her oval face, a faint flush upon her cheeks, her brown eyes sparkling, her red lips smiling up at him.

He had intended to tell her much, but instead, he folded her in his arms, and she nestled there, content. For a long, happy moment they stood, lost to the world of thought; and then she looked up at him, and laughed.

"I knew it from your voice," she said.

He laughed with her; then he grew grave, but there was the light of the great happiness in his gravity.

"I have resigned," he told her.

That was a part of what she had known.

"And not for me!" she exulted. It was not a question. She saw that in him was no doubt, no quandary, no struggle between faith and disbelief.

"I see my way clearly," he smiled down at her; "and there are no thorns to cut for me. I shall never change."

"And we shall walk hand in hand about the greatest work in the world," she softly reminded him, and there were tears in her eyes. "But what work shall that be, Ted?" She looked up at him for guidance, now.

"To shed into other lives some of the beauty which blossoms in our own," he replied, walking with her into the great dim nave, where the shadows still quivered with the under-echoes of the mighty Bach prelude. "I have been thinking much of the many things you have said to me," he told her, "and particularly of the need, not for a new religion, but for a re-birth of the old; that same new impulse towards the better and the higher life which Christ brought into the world. I have been thinking on the mission of him, and it was the very mission to the need of which you have held so firmly. He came to clear away the thorns of creed which had grown up between the human heart and God! The brambles have grown again. The time is almost ripe, Gail, for a new quickening of the spirit; for the second coming."

She glanced at him, startled.

"For a new voice in the wilderness," she wondered.

"Not yet," he answered. "We have signs in the hearts of men, for there is a great awakening of the public conscience throughout the world; but before the day of harvest arrives, we must have a sign in the sky. No great spiritual revival has ever swept the world without its attendant supernatural phenomena, for mysticism is a part of religion, and will be to the end of time. Reason, by the very nature of itself, realizes its own limitations, and demands something beyond its understanding upon which to hang its faith. It is the need of faith which distinguishes the soul from the mind."

"A sign," mused Gail, her eyes aglow with the majesty of the thought.

"It will come," he assured her, with the calm prescience of prophecy itself. "As no great spiritual revival has ever swept the world without its attendant supernatural phenomena, so no great spiritual revival has ever swept the world without its concrete symbol which men might wear upon their breasts. The cross! What shall be its successor? A ball of fire in the sky? Who knows! If that symbol of man's

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)

"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known hygienist, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these requisites, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, joints. One becomes flabby, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sallow of face."

"But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil after-effects, has been the problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root, which has been called 'vegetable calomel' because of its effectiveness—though of course it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in 'Sentinel' tablets—that's the name—and their use is not followed by weakness or exhaustion. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal wall. Sentinel tablets, which may be procured from any druggist—a dime's worth will do—will prove a revelation to any constipated, liver-troubled person."

Chief Cause of Pimples, Blotches, Sallow Skin

(Messenger of Health.)

Unightly eruptions, pimples, boils, blotches, sallow or muddy skin, usually are due to a sluggish liver, a constipated bowel—and a polluted blood stream as a consequence. How foolish is it to resort to outward applications, which can never have natural, permanent results. If more people only knew it, there is a very simple remedy, to be found in any drug store, which is as effective as it is harmless and quick acting. It is an old formula, long recognized by the medical profession, which has been put in tablet form, and at such small cost no one need now be deprived of its wonderful benefits.

"Sentinel tablets"—that's the name—are entirely vegetable and there's no habit-forming ingredient. You need only get about a dime's worth, and swallow one at bedtime to realize there's nothing else quite so good for the purpose. This action in the morning is so easy, so soothing, and instead of a weakening after-effect, you feel truly refreshed and invigorated. Sentinel tablets are not only the finest remedy known for constipation and torpid liver, but offer the sanest, most sensible treatment for complex skin difficulties of the character mentioned.

Great Demand for New Constipation Remedy

They say that the advent of the "sentinel tablet" as a vegetable substitute for calomel has resulted in an extraordinary demand for this remarkable product. It seems to have made a hit particularly with those afflicted with chronic constipation, who were quick to recognize its advantages over calomel and the usual laxatives.

Sentinel tablets, aside from their efficacy, doubtless owe their success largely to a tendency to aid in bringing about natural functioning—instead of encouraging the "cathartic habit." Also, instead of injuring the membranous lining of the organs involved, they exert a healing influence. Instead of weakening, they add tone to the intestinal wall. And they work so easily and gently, they are of course preferred on this account to the violently acting purgatives. Their inexpressiveness is another reason for the popularity of sentinel tablets. One need procure only a dime's worth, and take one tablet upon retiring, to be convinced that the ideal remedy for constipation, torpid liver, and their many evil consequences, has finally been found.—Druggists Review.

spiritual rejuvenation, of his renewed nearness to God, were, in reality, a ball of fire, Gail, I would hold it up in the sight of all mankind though it shriveled my arm!"

The thin treble note stole out of the organ loft, pulsing its timid way among the high, dim arches, as if seeking a lodgment where it might fasten its tiny thread of harmony, and grow into a song of new glory, the glory which had been born that day in the two earnest hearts beneath in the avenue of slender columns. The soft light from one of the clerestory windows flooded in on the compassionate son of man above the altar. The very air seemed to vibrate with the new inspiration which had been voiced in the old Market Square church. Gail gazed up at Smith Boyd, with the first content her heart had ever known; content in which there was both earnestness and serenity, to replace all her groping. He met her gaze with eyes in which there glowed the endless love which it is beyond the power of speech to tell. There was a moment of ecstasy, of complete understanding, of the perfect unity which should last throughout their lives. In that harmony, they walked from the canopy of dim arches out through the vestry, and beneath the door above which perched the two gray doves cooing. For an instant Gail looked back into the solemn depths, and a wistfulness came into her eyes.

"The ball of fire," she mused. "When shall we see it in the sky?"

Every Woman Should Know

There are three entirely different kinds of baking powder, namely:

- (1) Cream of tartar, derived from grapes;
- (2) Alum, a mineral acid; and
- (3) Phosphate of Lime.

(1) Baking Powders made of Cream of Tartar add to the food the same healthful qualities that exist in the ripe grapes from which Cream of Tartar is derived.

(2) Baking Powders made of Alum add to the food some form of Alum or Aluminum, a heavy metal, wholly foreign to any natural article of food.

(3) Phosphate of Lime is made from rock or by burning bones which by chemical action are changed into a white, powdered acid. It is used in baking powder only because it is a cheaper substitute.

A Cream of Tartar powder never contains Alum or Phosphate.

Every housekeeper should read the names of the ingredients printed on the label and know what she is using.

MAYOR BELL IS

a prison sentence of not more than five years and disfranchisement for any determinate period.

The court detailed the penalty for the crime of seeking contributions from saloon keepers in return for certain favors. The indictment charges that Police Chief S. V. Perrot did that at the instigation of Bell. The fine in that instant is not to exceed 10,000 and a prison sentence of from two to fourteen years.

"Touching on the rule of reasonable doubt," said the court, "I instruct you that a reasonable doubt arises only when the evidence is not sufficient to satisfy the minds of the jury to a moral or reasonable certainty of the defendant's guilt."

At another point the court said regarding the "reasonable doubt": "It is necessary that every essential element of the crime charged in the indictment in this cause should be proved by evidence beyond a reasonable doubt, but it is not necessary that each incidental or subsidiary fact should be proved beyond a reasonable doubt. Evidence should not be considered in fragmentary parts as though each fact or circumstance stood apart from the others; but, the entire evidence should be considered and the weight of the evidence should be determined from the whole body thereof."

The court reminded the jury that the defendant had entered a plea of not guilty.

"It is not, however, necessary that it be proved beyond a reasonable doubt that the defendant is guilty as charged in each count of the indictment to warrant a conviction." The court added that if the jury was convinced the defendant was guilty on one count it was warranted in returning a verdict of guilty against him.

It is not necessary that the jury be convinced that Bell conspired with each of the 127 defendants, the court said, but it would be sufficient to warrant a verdict of guilty of proved that he conspired with any one of more of the defendants.

The court said it was not necessary for the state to prove that Bell violated any of the election laws.

The court said that the following propositions must be proved beyond all reasonable doubt:

- 1—That there was a conspiracy as charged in the indictment.
- 2—That the defendant was a member of such conspiracy.

The court instructed the jury that it could not pass on the indictment and that it had nothing to do with the question of punishment.

Regarding the presumption of innocence, the court said "every circumstance and fact that is susceptible to different constructions must be construed in the defendant's favor, if it can reasonably be done."

The court said that evidence in proof of the conspiracy will be generally circumstantial, and that it was not necessary that the state prove that the defendants came together and actually agreed upon a common design and purpose.

Christian Meetings.

At the Fall rally of the Central Christian Church last night the Rev.
Mr. Daviess spoke on the subject, "A Well Kept Heart." His sermon was a forceful plea for sinners to turn from their ways. The evangelist said that most people are too prone to give all of their time and attention to the "side issues" of life, neglecting the more important things. He urged a closer heed to the convictions of the heart, saying the better way was to accept the invitation,
"My Son, give me Thine Heart." The theme for tonight will be "Earth's Greatest Building." A large crowd heard last night's sermon and the meetings are increasing in interest daily.

Card of Thanks.

We desire to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy extended to us during the illness, death and burial of our beloved sister, Miss Emma Hackman; also Rev. E. H. Eggers, Dr. A. G.
Osterman and Mr. F. H. Heideman, and for the floral offerings. Their kindness will always be remembered.
